DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
2. Following the interview of May 21, 2003 and receipt of the amendment Examiner further searched the instant application and found more appropriate art than what was used in the previous rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-3 and 6-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Franklin (5,180,057). With respect to Claim 1, the body portion 24 would enable a user with only one extremity to position a hanger thereon for hanging or removing a garment without assistance. The receptacle in the body portion is dimensioned and configured to receive and stabilize a conventional clothing hanger. With respect to Claim 2, the body portion has means (detail 24a) for suspending the device. With respect to Claim 3, the body portion's means (detail 24a) for suspending the device would provide the body portion of the device at a height accessible to the user. With respect to Claim 6, the receptacle inside the body portion is ovally shaped. With respect to Claim 7, handle portion (detail 28) overlays the hanger receptacle securing a hanger inside the receptacle. With respect to Claim 8, the handle portion is rotatable about the rod means (detail 22). With respect to Claim 9, the handle portion serves as a cover portion. With respect to Claim 10, a cam follower pin locks the section 25 in the positions shown in Fig. 2 and Fig. 4 (col. 5, lines 21-24).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Franklin (5,180,057). Franklin essentially teaches the invention of the instant application, but fails to specifically teach the base being formed for mounting on a vertical surface. Means for suspending the body portion (detail 24a) are provided on the body portion of the article for attaching the device to a horizontal surface. Those same means would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have been moved to a side of the body portion for making the device attachable to a vertical surface. With respect to Claim 3, Franklin teaches that the attaching means (detail 24a) are meant for suspending the device, but does not specifically teach that the device may be suspended from a pedestal. The attaching means would be suitable for attaching the device to a pedestal and would have been obvious to have done so by one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to provide a secure garment hanger attaching device for a user.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 11 and 12 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

8. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
